

REFLECTIONS.....

Dr. R. Varadarajan, the Founder-President of the National Education Society and Saraswathi Vidya Bhavan, had a vision way back in 1963. This vision saw the imparting of quality education to children in the lesser developed suburbs. This educational endeavour which started with one small school today proudly lays claim to 48 institutions ranging from pre-primary to post-graduate and also a research centre.

The NES Ratnam College of Arts, Science and Commerce was established with a similar aim in 1983. The college is known for its excellent academic results including a number of merit rankers at the University Examinations and for its emphasis on discipline, not to mention the various co-curricular and extra-curricular activities buzzing all through the year on its campus.

Our quest for continual self-improvement received a great fillip through the 'A' grade Reaccreditation from NAAC, UGC in 2011. Just before that college has received British Quality Mark from British Institute for Learning & Development, U.K. It further promotes our strong belief in the pattern of all round development of the students' personality. लान्तरा - our inter-collegiate fest is a step we had taken towards this endeavour. Now in its thirteenth year, this fest allows students to showcase their talents in the fields of Fine Arts, Literary Arts and Performing Arts.

This youth fest has been growing by leaps and bounds and last year witnessed more than 60 colleges from all over Mumbai participating in various events.

Looking forward to your enthusiastic participation and whole-hearted support!!!
